Changes in the Job Market due to Covid19

The effect of the Covid19 crisis on salary is clear. Whilst some salaries have increased most salaries have decreased since the Covid19 crisis. As salary decreases it becomes easier to access the best talent.

Since Covid19 the competition for the job market for employees has increased making it harder to find a job. This makes it easier for companies to find the best talent.

Whilst job offers have stayed fairly stable, job applications have risen drastically, meaning there are more people looking for jobs than jobs available.

All of this makes now the best time to find the right talent for your company.
